

Switching Kids on to Successful Learning

Do you deal with these sort of kids?

- The fiddlers
- The movers that can't sit still
- The dreamers that don't appear to have quite landed on this planet yet
- Kids that look away when they greet you
- Kids that struggle with spelling
- Kids that just don't get their "times-tables"
- Kids who have lost confidence to even try
- Kids that find it really hard to put their ideas to paper, even though you know they are 'cluey' etc etc

This day is guaranteed to be fun, informative, hands on and immediately practical.

Mindworks has a great reputation for the practical nature of their workshops. For Teacher Aides, this will give you useful, practical tips on how kids learn and why they learn differently

Ideas you'll get to take away.....

- You'll learn about the Visual, Auditory, Kinesthetic and Tactile learners, and most importantly, how to engage them
- You'll use Resources like Chute box, kush balls, light boards, truth circles, board and floor games to name a few. More importantly you'll learn how to make them yourself.
- Through fun memory training games, you'll help kids improve their Visual skills which in turn will help their novel reading.
- Your kids will get excited when they can correctly spell words backwards as well as forwards. Many kids write sentences, paragraphs and eventually pages in six to eight minutes simply by using our understanding of how the Right Brain works.
